Math

Another way to help wild animals is to reduce, reuse and recycle! When a family reduces, reuses and recycles they save 21 trees each year. Trees can be very important habitat for wild animals and they also put oxygen into the air which allows all living animals to breathe.

Reducing, reusing, and recycling saves 21 trees, and each of those three steps is equally important in saving trees. How many trees are saved by each step (reducing, reusing, or recycling)?

$$\underline{\quad} \div \underline{\quad} = \underline{\quad}$$

If a family recycles and reuses but doesn't reduce how many trees do they save?

$$\underline{\quad} + \underline{\quad} = \underline{\quad}$$

If a family reduces their waste but does not reuse or recycle, how many trees do they save?

If a family recycles, reuses, and reduces, how many trees do they save?

$$\underline{\quad} + \underline{\quad} + \underline{\quad} = \underline{\quad}$$
